Punctuation Worksheet

For The Love of Pickled Pumpkin Punctuation Pie!

Instructions:

- Write quotation marks (" ") at the beginning of Ms. Bubblebrain's words and at the end when you think we need them.
- Put an apostrophe (') if you find contractions that need an apostrophe.
- Add a comma inside of the ending quotation mark if there isn't another punctuation mark at the end of Ms. Bubblebrain's words.
- Check your work when you're done and see if your sentences match up to the ones in the book!

1. Sweet chalk-filled chicken! Ms. Bubblebrain screamed. Chris! You're late again! (Chapter 7)
2. Chris Robb! Ms. Bubblebrain yelled. What in the name of bacon belly button brownies are you doing? (Chapter 12)
3. Chris she said. What in the name of grilled termite tacos were you thinking? (Chapter 13)
4. I'm calling Mr. Turner she said. I've had just about enough of this chocolate-covered, cockroach-filled nonsense. (Chapter 13)
5. Well in the name of sweetened shoelace sandwiches, I couldn't have said it better myself. Nice job, Carmela! (Chapter 18)
6. Well, shake my pepper and buy me a snake cake Ms. Bubblebrain said. (Chapter 21)
